

A dark-shaped egg
In a multi-colored world
The hardest shell imaginable protects the light from coming in
The organ inside needs to widen his eyes
If only it could be stirred

A simple thought
Like a black dot on a page
No edges to consider when you're caught in the middle
Throw your arms up at the riddle
Life's an unbreakable toy, why not take a chance and meddle?

Blinded by rage
Softened by fear
You're the only hope for you

It's true.
It's true.
It's so sad to watch you, but you won't waver

It's easier to look back and regret
Then stand up and live and face the cold sweat
You know it now, but would rather say you knew
It's safer to be safe
Unbreakable in your case
You've got no one to blame but you

Scream at the colors
Blame all the humans
If I could shatter your world I'd be doing you a favor