With love, you risk everything With love, you can defeat anything You just have to trust That is a must And to do that you musn't fear